AHEC NEW YORK MEETING AT THE HARVARD CLUB

AHEC held its last meeting at the Harvard Club of New York on November 4, 2004. Members gathered to meet from the New York/ New Jersey area, California, Massachusetts, Washington DC and Kentucky as well.

Our special quests were officers from one of our sister organizations, the American Hungarian Federation (AHF): Stephen J. Varga, Csaba Teglas, Sandor Vegh and Bryan Dawson-Szilágyi, among others. They have introduced the mission and new leadership of their organization in detail. As Mr. Varga put it, "it is time for the many Hungarian organizations to start working together and strengthen each other's mission". Some prospective members present at the meeting have expressed how much they enjoyed the thought-provoking discussion led by Barnabas Takacs about the ethics of networking.

AHEC MEMBERS ENCOURAGE HUNGARY PARTICIPATION IN EUROPEAN UNION HOSTED EARTH OBSERVATION SUMMIT

Thanks to the efforts of several AHEC members, the Hungarian Government will participate as an observer in the Earth Observation Summit III, to be held February 16, 2005 in Brussels, Belgium.

Summit participants are creating a Global Earth Observing Systems of Systems (GEOSS) that will provide unprecedented amounts of environmental data from satellites, aircraft, and ground-based sensors. Nancy Colleton, President, Institute for Global Environmental Strategies and AHEC member, has been intimately involved in this project, noticed that Hungary was not among the nearly 60 countries that are part of the Group on Earth Observations, which has called for development of the GEOSS.

Thanks to Nancy's expertise and interest, AHEC was able to communicate with the Hungarian government and the Group on Earth Observations to secure observer status for Hungary in the days leading up to the summit.

Nancy engages industry, the academic community, and nongovernmental organizations in the planning process for GEOSS. For more information about her and her activities, please visit http://www.strategies.org.

SANDOR VEGH'S HAF LAUNCH HUNEX KNOWLEDGE PORTAL

Dr. Sandor Vegh, President of the HungarianAmerica Foundation (HAF), announces the launch of a new "job and knowledge mobility portal" at www.hunex.org.

The HungarianAmerica Foundation, Inc., is a not-for-profit, 501(c)(3), taxexempt organization, incorporated in the District of Columbia in 2003, for charitable, scientific, literary, and educational purposes. For more information, please visit http://www.hungarianamerica.com

MINISTER JANOS KOKA RESPONDS TO AHEC

Dr. Janos Koka, Hungarian Minister of Economics and Transportation, has received the letter of congratulations earlier sent by AHEC. Minister Koka is former chair of AHEC's sister organization in Hungary, IVSZ (Informatikai Vallalatok Szovetsege, http:// www.ivsz.hu). In his reply letter, he thanked AHEC and expressed his desire to work closely with American-Hungarian professionals. The text of his letter is reproduced below:

"Köszönettel fogadom kedves gratulációtokat kinevezésem alkalmából. Az Egyesült Államok, mint hazánk egyik legnagyobb befektetési partnere kiemelt figvelmet élvez a minisztérium munkájában, és e kapcsolat fejlesztésének az egyik legfontosabb haitóereje az amerikai magyarság lehet. Kiváló szervezetetek, az AHEC, amelynek nem egy vezetőjével személyesen is módomban állt megismerkedni, reményeim szerint kulcsszerepet játszik Magyarország imázsának javításában és a kölcsönös gazdasági kapcsolatrendszer erősítésében. Örömmel vettem hírét, hogy Szekfû Balázs, a Magyar-Indonéz Üzleti Tanács elnöke amerikai magyar vezető személyiségekből álló független tanácsadói team megszervezésébe kezdett. Bízom e kezdeményezés sikerében és abban, hogy e testület tovább erősítheti a két nemzet kapcsolatát.

A mihamarabbi találkozás reményében üdvözlettel:"
